DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the varying dimension of the rectilinear portions must be shown or the feature canceled from the claim. No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventors, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification does not have any written description of the varying dimension of the rectilinear portions.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 5. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kurihashi et al.(Kurihashi)(JP 63-194,543), Schorm et al.(Schorm)(US 5,341,561), and Sumi (JP 6-303,745). Kurihashi teaches a cylindrical stator core 6 with teeth 7 and slots, a rectilinear (polymorphic) coil slots with a radial longitudinal orientation. Kurihashi teaches the coils taking up 80% of the slot space. Kurihashi teaches every aspect of the invention except the rectilinear coils aligned radially and the varying cross section. Schorm teaches the equivalence of the wires aligned radially (figures 8 and 9) and circumferencially (figures 1-7). Sumi teaches a winding with a rectilinear portion havingvarying cross section (see figure 5). It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention that the coils of Kurihashi could be aligned radially instead of circurnferentially because Schorm teaches the equivalence of the longitudinal axis being radial or circumferential, where it is within the ordinary skill in the art to choose between known equivalents, and because Schorm teaches the rectilinear windings can be bundled for assembly into the stator core; and with the varying cross section of Sumi to provide a product with high space factor.
